

Accessing the NDIS? – reimagine.today

Help us improve the NDIS journey for our communities

Do you, or someone you care for, have a mental health concern that impacts you day to day?
Do you identify as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander?

If so, we invite you to join our upcoming co-design session to create NEW resources to support you and your community to access the NDIS.

Our project?

With funding from the NDIA, we are working to share and enhance reimagine.today, a FREE online resource that guides people living with a mental health condition through accessing the NDIS.

Our Peer Leaders across Australia are coordinating state-based Peer-led Networks and running co-design groups to develop new resources for reimagine.today. Some of these resources are being created specifically with and for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

Co-design?

We are working alongside people with lived experience, their families, carers and supporters to create new resources. Co-design provides an opportunity for people to contribute in a respectful, safe and supported environment.

What we'll be working on:

- What the NDIS can do for you?
- Telling the story of an Aboriginal person accessing the NDIS

How can you get involved?

We invite Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people living with a mental health condition, their families, carers and supporters to take part in this co-design process. If you met with us earlier this year, we welcome you back to build on ideas we began to explore then. New participants are also welcome! Participants are also welcomed to bring a support person.

The session will run for about four hours and lunch and morning and afternoon tea will be provided. Reimbursement will also be provided to eligible consumer and carer participants.

We invite you to attend our next group:

Date: 1st of October 2019

Time: 9 am till 2.30 pm

Venue: Harrys Place 1 Willeroo Street Tiwi NT 0810
